

Ready, set and eager to go!

Demonstrating a little humor and a lot of excitement about returning to a new normal, the Bensheim team produced a funny video from the home office. The video was posted across the Company's social media channels last week. The team hopes to bring a little smile to the faces of customers.

The video features employees standing in the starting blocks in their home office eagerly preparing for their next practice visit or other service activities for customers. The legendary Dentsply Sirona sneaker, which our customers already recognize as a staple of the Dentsply Sirona 2019 IDS team, plays the central role here.

Click here to watch the video, which you are welcome to re-post on your social media accounts:
