Bensheim / Salzburg, January 30, 2019. Female dentists, who are interested in digitalization and integration and want to make use of the advantages of new technologies for precise treatment results, are invited to apply for Dentsply Sirona's Smart Integration Award. Until March 15, 2019, they can apply by submitting their ideas and experiences relating to the convenient, efficient design of work processes at the treatment center via the online questionnaire <http://www.dentsplysirona.com/smart-integration-award>. Submissions should include sketches and stories about how female dentists impress their patients with treatments and diagnoses, and what they consider to be the best networked, and, therefore, the most efficient treatment processes in the practice of the future. This also includes new concepts to integrate patients in the best way possible.

"In the future, we want to involve more female dentists in our network of experts," explains Susanne Schmidinger, Director of Product Management & Global Marketing Communications, Treatment Centers, at Dentsply Sirona. "With our current generation of products, such as Teneo, Sinius and Intego, we have already been able to implement many individual requests, and we want to continue to do so in the future. With the Smart Integration Award, we acknowledge outstanding ideas and visions in the area of quicker, easier processes, and, of course, we also want to inspire our user network."

Exclusive further training program for the winners

The winners can look forward to an exclusive expert training program – the Expert Development Program 2019 – within the framework of the Smart Integration Network offered by Dentsply Sirona. It consists of training sessions, workshops and seminars on numerous specialist subjects relating to treatment centers.

A jury of international experts will judge the ideas and concepts that are submitted. In addition to members of the Dentsply Sirona management team, the jury will also include external experts.
