

Melbourne, Australia

Interview with Prof. Roy Judge

“Innovative products and excellent advice from genuine experts.”

Roy Judge is assistant professor for dental prosthetics and acting clinic director at the Melbourne Oral Health Training and Education Centre (MOHTEC), Melbourne Dental School, University of Melbourne, Australia.

Professor Judge, the University of Melbourne has recently re-equipped its dental clinic. Could you explain the changes that have been made?

Prof. Roy Judge: “We are talking here about a truly enormous project. We completely redesigned and re-equipped both a clinical and teaching department. This enabled us to create a highly modern training center at which students are able to learn all dental specializations in ideal conditions and also apply their newly gained know-how and skills using the very latest technologies.”

How are the new departments equipped?

Prof. Roy Judge: “The project comprised two areas: a room with 50 simulation units and a clinical area with 51 fully equipped treatment centers for clinical training in the following specializations: endodontics, pediatric dentistry, periodontology, prosthetic dentistry and orthodontics.”

You decided in favor of Sirona for this ambitious project. Why was that?

Prof. Roy Judge: “Following a careful and demanding tendering process, the Melbourne Dental School decided to work together with Sirona. The equipping of the new areas required a large range and number of devices and technologies and Sirona was able to supply and install all the dental technology for both areas: from the simulation and treatment centers, all the x-ray technology (digital and with storage plates) through to the straight and contra-angle handpieces. We now also have the state-of-the-art dental CAD/CAM system CEREC.”

What was your experience with Sirona?

Prof. Roy Judge: “We decided in favor of Sirona as this company ticked all our boxes. Two factors were especially important to us: the quality of the innovative equipment and the service and support offered to both teaching facilities even during ongoing operation. We were more than satisfied with our decision over the entire course of the project. We kept to our planned budget and everything was finished on time.”

How would you sum up cooperation with Sirona?

Prof. Roy Judge: “With this project we experienced Sirona’s customized solutions first hand: innovative products, excellent advice from genuine experts and outstanding service. I can wholeheartedly recommend Sirona.”
